7th/8th US History

This week we are working through colonial foundations and gaining an understanding of the motivations of the early colonists and how the various regions shaped up on the Eastern seaboard. We will test again on Monday but this time they can have a note prep card. Next week, we dive deeper into the regional differences of the colonies and see the first stirrings of the colonists seeing themselves as something more than far-flung colonials.

We ended our week with the beginning of our study of the cultures in early Mesopotamia. We will discuss those civilizations in the week ahead and prepare for a test on chapter 2 the following week.
